DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's Amendment

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Gary J. Cunningham (Reg. No. 33,488) on 11/03/09.

The claims have been amended as follows:

Claims 9, 12 and 13 are cancelled.

1-4. (Canceled)

5. (Currently Amended) A method for operating a radiotelephone system, the method comprising:

at one or more mobile stations of the radiotelephone system, detecting other mobile stations to which radio propagation conditions are sufficiently good; at the one or more mobile stations, communicating information about the detected mobile stations to a base station of the radiotelephone system; at a first mobile station, after the detecting the other mobile stations to which the radio propagation conditions are sufficiently good and after the communicating the information about the detected mobile stations, requesting communication with a second mobile station; and at the base station, if the radio propagation conditions between the first mobile station and the second mobile station are sufficiently good, instructing the first mobile station and the second mobile station to establish direct communication; and at the first mobile station, in response to the instruction to establish direct communication, entering a packet-based connectionless communication mode with the second mobile station, wherein the packet-based connectionless communication mode comprising entering an Opportunity Driven Multiple Access relay mode, wherein the instruction step includes:

initiating a first communication link between the base station and the first mobile station; communicating a direct communication instruction to the first mobile station; initiating a second communication link between the base station and the second mobile station;

communicating a direct communication instruction to the second mobile station;

terminating the first communication link and the second communication link.

6. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 5 further comprising:

at the base station, receiving the communication request from the first mobile station; and from the information about the detected mobile stations from the first mobile station and the second mobile station, determining if the first mobile station and the second mobile station may initiate direct communication.

7. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 5 further comprising:
determining if each of the first mobile station and the second mobile station is a detected mobile of the other mobile station.
8. (Original) The method of claim 6 further comprising:
at the base station, determining a location of the first mobile station; determining a location of the second mobile station; and determining information about relative proximity of the first mobile station and the second mobile station based on the location of the first mobile station and the location of the second mobile station.
10. (Original) The method of claim 5 wherein detecting other mobile stations comprises:
detecting respective uplink transmissions from respective mobile stations to base stations of the radiotelephone system.
11. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 10 wherein detecting other mobile stations further comprises:

determining a received signal strength for a detected uplink transmission from a mobile station;

if the received signal strength exceeds a threshold, identifying the mobile station as a detected mobile station.

14. (Currently Amended) A method for operating a base station in a radiotelephone system, the method comprising:

receiving, from respective mobile stations of the radiotelephone system, information about relay candidates of the respective mobile stations; storing the information in respective relay candidate lists; after the receiving the information about the relay candidates and after the storing the information in the respective relay candidate lists, receiving a request from a first mobile station to initiate a call with a second mobile station in the radiotelephone system;

based at least in part on a relay candidate list associated with the first mobile station, determining if the second mobile station is physically close to the first mobile station;

if so, instructing the first mobile station and the second mobile station to enter a relay mode for direct link communication; and at the first mobile station, in response to the instruction to enter the relay mode for direct link communication, entering a packet-based connectionless communication mode with the second mobile station, wherein the packet-based connectionless communication mode comprising entering an Opportunity Driven Multiple Access relay mode, wherein the instruction step includes: initiating a first communication link between the base station and the first mobile station; communicating a direct communication instruction to the first mobile station; initiating a second communication link between the base station and the second mobile station; communicating a direct communication instruction to the second mobile station; and terminating the first communication link and the second communication link.

15. (Original) The method of claim 14 wherein instructing the first mobile station and the second mobile station to enter a relay mode comprises:

communicating information about the relay mode over a first link with the first mobile station; communicating information about the relay mode over a second link with the second mobile station; and terminating both the first link and the second link.

16. (Original) The method of claim 14 further comprising:
receiving from respective mobile stations of the radiotelephone system information about relay candidates of the respective mobile stations; storing the information in respective relay candidate lists; and receiving updates from the respective mobile stations for updating the respective relay candidate lists.

17. (Currently Amended) A radiotelephone comprising:

a radio communication circuit configured for two-way radio communication with remote radio devices;

a controller configured to control the radio communication circuit; means for detecting other radiotelephones to which radio propagation conditions are sufficiently good; and a memory configured to store information about the detected radiotelephones in the relay candidate list, wherein the controller is configured to control the radio communication circuit to establish a radio link to a remote base station ~~to establish a radio link to the remote base station~~ to transmit the relay candidate list to the remote base station, and ~~to establish a radio link with a remote base station~~ to transmit a request for communication with another radiotelephone and to receive over the radio link a direct communication instruction generated by the remote base station in dependence on the relay candidate list, and further configured to control the radio communication circuit to interrupt the radio link and establish a relay radio link with the another ~~other~~-radiotelephone in response to the direct communication instruction; and further configured to, in response to the direct communication instruction, enter a packet-based connectionless communication mode with the another radiotelephone, wherein the packet-based connectionless communication mode comprises an Opportunity Driven Multiple Access relay mode; wherein the base station instructs direct communication by:

initiating a first communication link between the remote base station and the radio communication circuit; communicating a direct communication instruction to the radio communication circuit; initiating a second communication link between the base station and the another radiotelephone; communicating a direct communication instruction to the another radiotelephone; and terminating the first communication link and the second communication link.

18. (cancelled)

19. (Previously Presented) The radiotelephone of claim 17 wherein the controller is further configured to control the radio communication circuit to detect uplink radio transmissions from other radiotelephones and, in response to the detected uplink transmissions, to populate the relay candidate list.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1-4, 9, 12-13, 18 are cancelled.

Claims 5-8, 10-11, 14-17, 19 (renumbered as 1-11 respectively) are patentable.

The entire prior-art combination disclosed (in the office-actions of this case) fails to anticipate or render the claimed limitations in combination with all the recited limitations of the disclosed independent claims obvious (viewed the entire claim as a whole), over any of the prior art of record, alone or in combination.

Consequently, the disclosed independent claims are allowed on behalf of above-discussed reasons, and also preserved via Applicants arguments and remarks filed on 07/29/2009 as well. Since the disclosed dependent claims are dependant on one of the above independent claims, therefore they are also patentable.

Conclusion

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
